

Revision of Course
Information form:

Program: RESS

STSLI 100

Subject and Course Number:

Students may be required to purchase a course package for materials

Q. Method of Instruction: R. Course Evaluation

O. Course Objectives:

This First Semester Transition Program of students

their transition to college.

Assist students in the encourage students to use many of the college resources and services.

Encourage students

assist students in achieving their academic and personal goals.

assist students in financing their education to seeking a post-secondary education

Encourage students to take greater responsibility for their learning outcomes.

Enhance the self-reliance, self-discipline and self-direction of students.

Provide new students with mentors and networks for informal support through other existing college mentor networks.

Foster active, critical and creative thinking.

Apply appropriate learning strategies and techniques to college success.

Assist students in recognizing and improving their methods of deliberate learning.

~~ings, etc.; late registration; repeating courses; re-registration; repeating same courses; fee; payments; reu
p. Petitioning and appealing grades and other college decisions.~~

- b. Developing assertive, respectful communication
- c. Enhancing listening skills
- d. Improving communication with instructors

Q. Method of Instruction

Course is intended for... Curriculum will be delivered through... application oriented. Students will master course objectives through guided self-discovery, information sessions, tutorials, and mentor exploration, readings, lectures, special presentations.